DELTA CELEBRATE CHAPTER'S BIRTH

Washington Delta Tau Deltas Hold Founders' Day Banquet.

That the civilization of the world today depends largely, if not primarily, upon our country and our people, was the opinion expressed by Representative James R. Mann of Illinois, in an address before the Gamma Delta Chapter of the Delta Tau Deltas at the University Club last night.

"I am not afraid of this much-lauded and red propaganda," said Mr. Mann. "We have the best country, the best government and the best people in the world today, and our people are determined to maintain good, honest and just government in so far as finite nature is concerned."

Representative Lemuel Padgett of Tennessee, who followed Mr. Mann, stated optimistically of the future, and said that, while the public is keeping a leveling eye upon the achievements of the individual, the young manhood and young womanhood of the land will have a broader vision and better appreciation of what is expected by rightful effort rightfully directed.

Cities Chapter's Growth.

Dr. Daniel L. Borden of the George Washington University Medical School acted as toastmaster and gave a brief resume of the growth of the Gamma Delta Chapter, which was inaugurated at the university in 1904. He introduced Maxine Sandoe, president of the local chapter, who, in her address, accomplished by its members during the last three years at George Washington.

Richard D. Daniels, president of the Delta Tau Delta Club, the Alumni Chapter in the District; A. C. Thom, one of the founders of the chapter in Washington; W. W. Burrell and Phil Buerchner, two others who were members of the original chapter, also spoke.

What Can He Do?

Representative Fred S. Purnell of Indiana related the troubles of a country, that if I don't vote for the soldiers' bonus I won't come back to Congress, while on the other hand, the citizens and taxpayers of my district tell me that if I do vote for it I may look for another job. What am I to do?"

Camden Mcatee gave a detailed account of the running and motives of the Washington Delta Tau Delta Club, and a telegram of regret was read from Bruce Bielaski that he was unable to attend.

Ross A. White, Linton R. Massey and Chester Foster Hagan were in charge of the entertainment. The Montrose Quartet sang during the dinner.

BULGARIA IS CROWDED BY RUSSIAN REFUGEES

Czarist Regime Mild in Brutality and Bestiality Compared to Bolsheviks, It View.

By Cablegram to The Star and Chicago Daily News. Copyright, 1920.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, May 8.—If the numbers and character of the Russian refugees in Bulgaria alone the old czarist tyranny, brutality and bestiality seem mild in comparison.

The Russian Church in Sofia is packed with these refugees and the services at which exiled priests officiate are veritable wailing affairs.

The Bishop of Odessa is also there, and in his never-failing efforts to describe the crimes committed by the Bolsheviks, particularly against the priests, he says one being cut to pieces and heard him to the last.

"God forgive them! They know not what they do. Have pity on Russia!" It is heard in Bulgaria, as it is in all the other countries of the world, that care for all the unfortunate Russian refugees. In Sofia there are already forty Russian professors, including Bunin, Kondakoff and Rennenkampf; more than fifty engineers and more than 100 writers, artists and actors, not to mention others. Fourteen of the professors have been appointed to places in the university here and most of the engineers have received state positions. The theaters are all employing many of the Russian stars, such as Duvan Toroff, from the Moscow Theater; Tamara Grusinska, prima donna, and Basil Ronaki, president of the Moscow Theater; G. Yakovlev, Galina Artizbousha, Kouloukova, Maria Leonova, Skvorpouska Kainarova and others. Many are compelled to appear in circuses and restaurants to earn a living.

Russian newspaper men will publish in Sofia a Russian paper, called the Rouskoe Slovo, with Prince Pataki as chief editor. The presence of these intellectual fugitives, representing the best, noblest and purest in Russia, is perhaps the greatest argument against communism in Bulgaria.

MAY TRADE WITH RUSSIA.

Danish Committee and Slav Delegation May Reach Agreement.

Cablegram to The Star and Chicago Daily News. Copyright, 1920.

COPENHAGEN, May 8.—The negotiations between the Krassin delegation and the Danish committee concerning the resumption of trade with soviet Russia are still going on with prospects of success. The Polish offensive, it is said, will not interfere with the negotiations. Leading anti-Bolsheviks in Copenhagen say that the Polish victories will create a strong nationalist movement in Russia which eventually will sweep the Poles from the field.

On the other hand, it is claimed that it will make no difference what party is in power in Russia, as the negotiations are not with the soviet government, but with the co-operative associations which can live up to their agreements even if a new political regime is established.

FEAR COAL SHORTAGE

Pennsylvania Towns Hit By Bessemer and Lake Erie R. R. Strike.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 8.—Towns on the Bessemer and Lake Erie railroad fear a coal shortage, as a result of an embargo placed on freight following a walkout last night of 200 switchmen employed on that road. The road, one of the most important in the country, carries a large part of the country's coal, passing through Butler, Albion and Shesango.

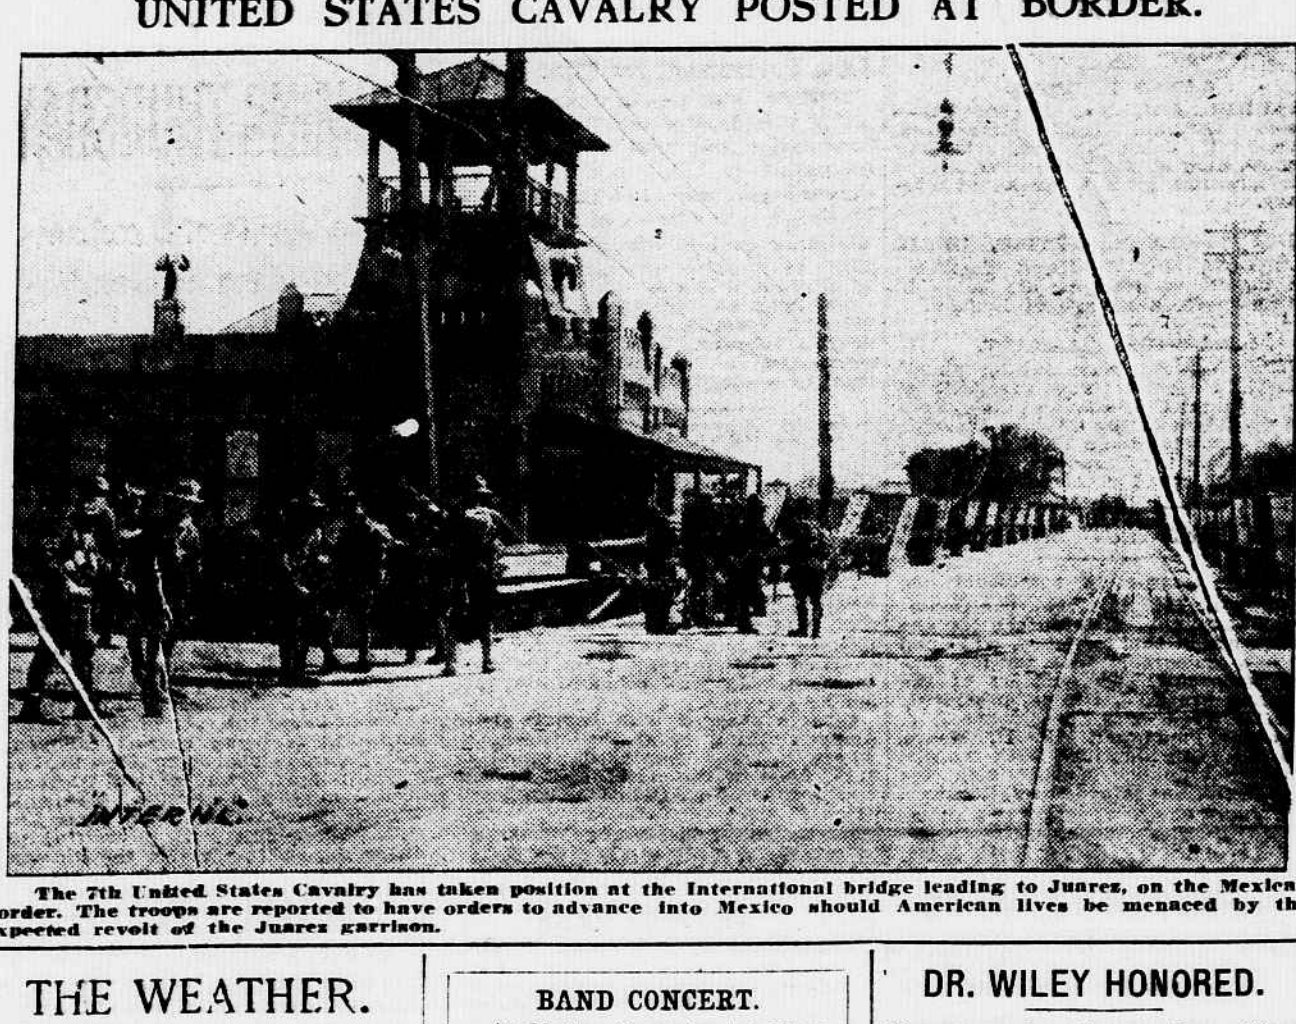

It is not believed towns along the B. & L. E. touched by other railroads will be affected by the walkout.

WILL REDUCE ARSENAL FORCE

Springfield to Gradually Cut From 2,600 to 900.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., May 8.—The wartime force of 2,600 men at Springfield arsenal is to be reduced to peace strength—900—by summer. It was stated by Col. Charles Ames, commandant, tonight. The economy program by Congress and surplus of rifles on which the arsenal force is engaged are given as reasons. The cut will be gradual.

SAYS BAVARIA CANNOT BECOME INDEPENDENT

Prof. Brentano Cites Reasons Why State Must Remain Part of Germany.

Cablegram to The Star and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright, 1920.

MUNICH, May 8.—Prof. Lujo Brentano of the University of Munich, eminent authority on finance, in an interview, said:

"When you ask me if Bavaria will withdraw from the empire, I tell you it would be impossible, even if she were so inclined. In the first place, any attempt on the part of the monarchist minority to put Rupprecht or any other prince on the throne would bring about a revolution in ten minutes. Again, an effort to become an independent democratic state is out of the question, because our financial and economic condition is not such that we will be able to go on alone."

"We are well represented in the Berlin government, which I know to be doing its utmost to comply with the almost impossible peace terms. The men are not stationers and there is no great ability among them, but they are doing their best. They are facing tasks which would baffle the best of men."
